Research Spotlight on Parental Involvement in Education

The school plays an important role in determining the levels of parental involvement in school. Specifically, schools can outline their expectations of parents and regularly communicate with parents about what children are learning. Also, schools can provide opportunities for parents to talk with school personnel about parents' role in their children's education through the help of advanced technology platform what we adopted for PASSDAILY, home visits, family nights, and well-planned parent-teacher meetings and open houses. In addition, the National PTA recommends that parent/family involvement programs welcome parents as volunteer partners in schools and that these programs invite parents to act as full partners in making school decisions that affect children and families.

When parents talk to their children about school, expect them to do well, make sure that out-of-school activities are constructive, and help them plan for college, their children perform better in school.

When schools engage families in ways that improve learning and support parent involvement at home and school, students make greater gains. When schools build partnerships with families that respond to parent concerns, honor their contributions, and share decision-making responsibilities, they are able to sustain connections that are aimed at improving student achievement.

Indian Education | importance of Parent Alert System

India is an important educational center in the global education industry. India has more than 1.4 million schools and more than 35,000 higher education institutes. India has one of the largest higher education systems in the world and there is still a lot of potential for further development in the education system.

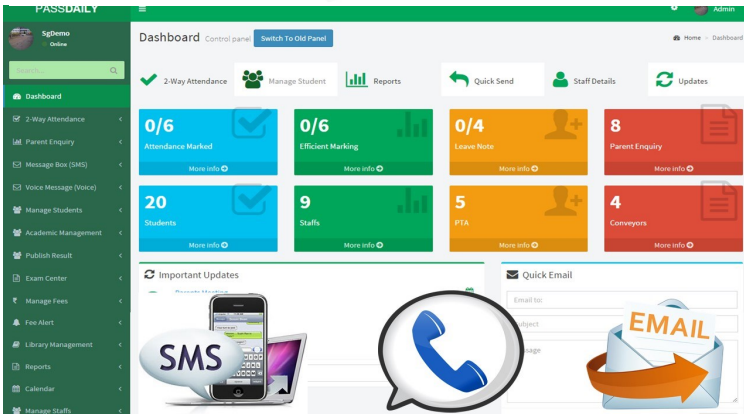

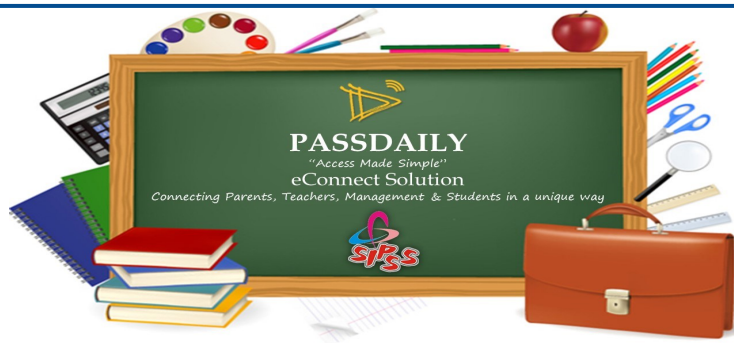

But in recent times there are many concerns and challenges regarding the security / behavior change of students in the institutions. The technology specially internet reach-ability and gadget tsunami is opening wide opportunity to get a student divert from their education objectives and committing mistakes unknowingly / knowingly, where the institution has no control. But most of the time the affected communities are the institutions as well the parent. Many may talk about the discipline and morale but we can find many parents as well the seniors never bother to pass this rather exploit students it for their benefits. As well the implementation is very difficult unless otherwise both the communities establish a proper personal surveillance and effective communication in time.

How we can minimize these concerns – the best options are to establish a proper communication channel between the parents / guardians and the institutions. These communications has to be fast enough, it may not be sufficient to have the legacy communication channel such as school diaries frequent parent teacher meeting etc, In the current scenario it is not very difficult to establish a solution to this with the help of proper usage of technology. After having a good amount of research and discussions with the key officials and stake holders in the education eco system, we at SIPSS GLOBAL could evolve in developing a proper alert system cum complete institutional ERP which benefit and address this concern. We branded it as PASSDAILY (Parent Alert System Solution Daily)

“87% of the parents want Regular Updates from Their Child’s School.” GALLUP Research.

“When schools, families, and community groups work together to support learning, children tend to do better in school, stay in school longer, and like school more.” -
